Two-State Compact, Commission Proposed for Clean Air Controls

Creation of an Illinois-Missouri compact for air pollution control and establishment of a regional pollution control commission for areas of Madison and St. Clair counties are among principal proposals of an Air Resources Management program made public today.

The report recommends elimination of hand-fired heating units, a rapid transit system to cut down exhaust fumes from vehicles, tough controls on open-burning dumps and even restrictions on residential leaf burning.

The program report was released today by the Interstate Air Pollution Study as the final phase of three years of work to determine how badly the air is polluted in the urbanized districts of the Illinois-Missouri area, the sources of its pollution and what can be done about making the area a healthier and more pleasant place in which to live.

Step-by-step procedure for administration of stringent controls over major sources of air pollutants is detailed in the report which includes a model air pollution control ordinance and first standards which the degrees of pollution should not be permitted to exceed.

Control Laws Outlined

Legislation necessary to creating control agencies at state, regional and local levels is outlined in the study.

The management program is the eighth and final section of Phase II of the Interstate study which began in 1963. Previous reports included pollutant emission and air quality assurance studies, an air survey and a report on meteorological and topographical effects upon the distribution of pollutants.

The current report is based upon results of the previous surveys to detail the means of controlling pollution factors as determined in the earlier reports.

Urges More Activities

In addition to a bi-state compact approved by Illinois and Missouri assemblies and the bi-county regional commission for Madison and St. Clair counties, the report urges strengthening and increasing air pollution control activities in St. Louis and St. Louis county and recommends a linkage between regulatory and urban planning activities to prevent air pollution problems and land use-air use conflicts.

Recommendations of the report, if carried out even on a long-range basis, would have far-reaching effects upon area residents, industry and even the operators of business and commercial firms, it was noted.

One section of the program recommending means of reducing emission of air pollutants, particularly in the area of particulates, calls for eventual elimination of all remaining hand firing of fuels, which would mean conversion from hand-fired heating units to other systems. Such legislation would require conversion of existing hand-fired industrial installations to units handling fuels of low pollutant quality.

Still other recommendations require elimination of open burning of refuse and debris, a factor that would necessitate services by municipalities or other governmental agencies for pick-up of trash, refuse and debris.

Open burning is prohibited currently by legislation only in St. Louis, St. Louis county and East St. Louis, the report states.

Eventual elimination of the burning of leaves also is urged, although it is pointed out that this would have to be done on a long-range basis since complete elimination of leaves would be a program to gather such refuse. Meanwhile, it is suggested, burning of leaves should be limited to certain periods of the day when wind velocity is at its highest.

Recommend Transit System

Development of an air pollution free type of rapid transit system in the area is recommended as a means that would reduce substantially such pollutants as carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and lead.

This Bucket Seat Really Was a Bucket

A pickup truck driver who was using a bucket for a seat lost control of his vehicle when he apparently fell off the bucket and the truck crashed into the northeast corner of the St. Louis County building, 20th and Adams streets, Saturday afternoon, injuring the driver.

The trucker, Virgil Unger, 48, of 2714 West 22nd street, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a possible nose fracture, several broken teeth and cuts.

Witnesses told police the truck was going east when the driver was seen to fall off the seat and lose control.

condition is satisfactory, according to her parents.

Police said the girl was riding east, while the auto was being operated in reverse in the alley by Mrs. Lee Van Meter, 39, of 4808 Kirkpatrick homes. After striking and demolishing the bike, the car also struck a post. Mrs. Van Meter said she sounded her horn when she saw the cyclist.

Donna Licavoli, 15, of 2168 Orville avenue, was injured when she was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Delores J. Elfriff, 2136 Orville, at 5:35 p.m. Thursday in front of the girl's home. Mrs. Elfriff said the girl darted in front of her car.

Unlucky 13 Here Report Weekend

Thefts, Break-Ins

An unlucky 13 victims reported burglaries and thefts to Quad-City law enforcement authorities during the weekend. Included was the theft of guns and jewelry valued at several hundred dollars.

Loot valued at several hundred dollars, including jewelry, guns and other items, was taken from a basement display case at the home of Kenneth Wyatt, 1943 Benton street, between 1:30 and 3:30 a.m. Saturday. Wyatt told police the night before he had lost a door key.

There was no sign of forced entry, but a glass in the display case was smashed to steal two boxes of gun faces, three necklaces, a loaded German Luger, three derringers of various sizes, three other small caliber pistols, four $1 silver certificates, and $30 in dimes and $30 in nickels from 9:45 p.m. Friday after she had fallen out of an auto when the door was open on the drive in the 4000 block of Namekiki road.

She was a passenger in a southbound car driven by her husband, Lacy. She suffered abrasions to both arms and elbows, her left shoulder and left foot.

Legal Dispute—Trimpe Aide Returns Check

A legal question on incompatibility is being debated by County School Supt. Wilbur R. L. Trimpe and the office of State Auditor Michael Howlett over a paycheck last week to Trimpe's new assistant, Harold Eugene Briggs.

Briggs is entitled to the payment of his salary for the period of his part-time work between April 26 and May 26, and that he expects the check to be re-issued.

Trimpe went to Springfield Friday to confer with Howlett, and said there was disagreement over the payment since Briggs' position as Trimpe's assistant was not ended until June 3. His resignation was accepted by the local school board on April 27, effective June 3. Briggs had endeavored to get a leave of absence from the principal but was unsuccessful.

'Ultimate' in Nation

Severity of the recommendations was blamed on the belief of a majority of the Interstate Study executive committee that local area air emission standards should be "the ultimate" in the nation, rather than requiring compliance with the existing competing industrial areas as Chicago and Pittsburgh.

The Industrial Waste Council, composed of representatives of Missouri and Illinois business organizations, says industry causes only a portion of air pollution. The rest coming from "open burning, automobiles, schools, apartment houses, construction, residences and other activities."

"Even before the Interstate Study, responsible industry managements were struggling with the problem of air pollution. Had spent many millions of dollars to abate pollution over some industries; they were investigating additional methods of control."

1916 GCHS Grad Attends Commencement

Seated among hundreds of proud relatives of Granite City high school's graduating students who witnessed Friday evening's commencement exercises was Dr. Max L. Bramer, DDS, one of 15 GCHS students graduated 50 years ago in June 1916.

A practicing dentist in Chicago with an impressive list of honors and writings to his credit, Dr. Bramer said, "A feeling of deep nostalgia brought me back to the old community just for tonight's graduation ceremonies."

It was his first visit here in 41 years and he admitted he knew none of the 710 graduates in this year's class.

Three other members of the "Class of 1916" still reside in Granite City and while here for his one-day visit Friday, Dr. Bramer attempted to contact them. "As all are ladies," he explained, "I believe I'd better decline to name them."

Comments on the growth of the community, he said he had particularly noticed the new Civic Park, which he remembered as Circle Park, prior to construction of the federal post office building in 1911. However, he said the old park covered a much larger area.

$54,000 Apartment Permit Obtained

A building permit for a six-unit apartment house to cost $54,000 was issued Thursday to Robert Swatlow and will be known as the Town House.

The brick, veneer, 24-room structure is to be located at Ponton road and Washburn avenue. It was the sixth building permit of 1966 for apartment developments with values totaling $381,000.

A $12,504 addition to a previous permit for an office addition at the A. O. Smith Corp. also was issued Thursday. It raises the cost of that project to $42,504.

Other permits during the first part of June were obtained by Alfred Nolan, 2820 Denver street, one-room addition, $1100; Lawrence Shelton, 2820 East 25th street, general repairs, $1000; and Joseph Ditchel, 2242 Washington avenue, remodel and repair porch, $250.

Another problem is future growth since the city now is virtually jammed on all sides.

"City a Battleground"

Adding to his comments, the mayor said, "When you live on a battlefield you have a war. Every city in America is a battleground—a battleground where the struggle for the survival of our society is fought day after day."

The mayor is faced with an 114-0 split of the 16-member council—and, on the wrong

GC Park Board Still Whittling on Rink Costs

around $400,000, with the remainder of funds to be used for equipment.

To Higher Ground
A tentative saving of $10,000 has caused the commissioners to consider moving the site of the structure to higher ground in Wilson Park. Such a change, it is felt, could eliminate the expensive excavation and fill necessary to raise and support the building in its present position on the end of Benton street.

Proximity to existing sewer and water facilities are also attractive in considering two site change possibilities. One possible location is at the Fehling road and State street corner, the other on Diamond No. 7, the old baseball diamond near the softball diamond.

When the park commissioners and project architect Henry Gabriel were arriving at the cost of the rink, soil borings and topographical characteristics of the then-proposed site had not been sufficiently definite to affect the project estimate.

New Roof Design
A consideration to alter the design of the structure's roof is seen as possible $20,000 savings. The design upon which the current bids were made calls for a high, pagoda-styled roof with laminated beams and other supporting architecture.

But both the site-change and re-design of the roof are still under study while the Gabriel & Dulgeroff architects proceed with the extensive item-by-item reworking of alternate features in the design as it is.

These revisions of alternate features will be studied by the park commissioners and then presented to the four low bidders on the project.

One commissioner stated, "We could still be in the ballpark as far as this present site and design go, but as alternatives we could go to the other site and consider the alteration of the roof."

Henry Ross of Granite City had the lowest base bid at $350,000 with alternate features stepping up to $367,000. Next lowest base bidders were: Nelson Construction Co. of St. Louis, $337,137; G. H. Sternberg, Granite City, $325,000; United American of St. Louis, $337,800.

A new figure brought up during preliminary discussions by the citizens' committee for revised cost of the structure was $453,000. This could change substantially, according to the architects, as they now consider further outpicks of alternate features.

With the equipment and contingency figure of $75,000, the total structure cost in this stage would be $528,000. Savings in a site change and a roof re-design could further reduce this figure down nearer the limit of the $475,000 bond issue amount.

It also was brought out that this area is in high construction market, and contractors have more work than they can handle and not enough craftsmen.

The architects are now pursuing every possible avenue of paring materials and mechanical costs.

Venice Seeking Driver, 16, Faces Injunction to Halt 5 Traffic Charges Dust Emissions

An injunction proceeding to restrain the Fox Brothers Co. from the alleged emitting of a red metallic dust from its plant located near North Venice was to be filed in circuit court today, the Venice city council was told in its regular meeting Friday night.

Harry Hartman, city attorney, informed council members that the suit was mailed to the circuit court Friday and that a petition for a temporary injunction also will be filed within the next week if emissions of the dust is not halted.

Numerous complaints of red dust have been received by police and city officials for several months. According to police, the dust at various times envelops much of North Venice and is causing damage to sliding on house, paint surfaces and automobiles.

Alderman Rinnie Vince said that he had been informed that a group of ten persons had retained an attorney and plan to file a joint action against the company in an effort to collect damages.

Tentative Bridge Budget
The council also approved a tentative budget for operation of McKinley bridge, totaling $316,689. This is an increase of $14,553 over last year's final budget and represents an overall salary increase of about 2.5%, according to Dr. John E. Lee, mayor of Venice.

Mayor Lee told the council the increase also includes a $400 annual salary for an additional maintenance man. The bridge administration now includes one maintenance man and one helper.

The tentative budget is subject to approval by a New York firm representing bridge bondholders and is subject to change. The new budget does not become effective until Oct. 1. The budget for the current operating year is $302,137.

Wince questioned an item of $1088 per month for advertising purposes and said he believed that the city should be getting more advertising for that sum.

Mayor Lee explained that the budget from also includes the salary of the advertising manager, Walter H. "Buck" Simmons, chairman of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee is advertising manager at a salary of $480 per month, or $5808 per year. This is slightly higher than the $675 annual salary of the chief toll collector.

Would Favor Increase
Wince said he was not objecting to the $1088 item but was in favor of increasing it if the city could obtain more and better advertising.

The council authorized an expense payment of $100 each for four members of the volunteer fire department to attend the annual Illinois State Firemen's Training at Champaign June 5-12. Those to attend are Chief William Meenan, Lloyd Blumenstock, Harold Koelker Jr. and Thomas McCoskey.

Because of complaints received from residents in North Venice, the council instructed the police department to notify the operator of an ice cream truck to stop ringing the truck bell after 5 p.m. and to discontinue selling at 10 p.m.

Mayor Lee announced that the

Among voters challenged by Ballentine, who had entered 50 affidavits with the county clerk, was his opponent for precinct committee, John Brick, and his wife. Ballentine suggested that Brick had lived in various addresses in recent years other than that listed on his voter's registration.

One of the claims was that he resided above the law office of Gitchoff in Granite City for a year, last year. Gitchoff informed the county clerk that Brick had stayed at his office building for a week to 10 days, while Brick's apartment was being remodeled.

Recent questions as to Ballentine's own legal voting address, comparing those on his petition for candidacy and registration, were not brought out at the hearing.

In another case, it was determined, through the response of a resident who appeared for the hearing, that he had lived in St. Clair county and registration was not returned to his former residence in Madison within 90 days of the primary election to permit him to exercise his voting franchise in his current precinct.

Ex-Convict Appears

One ex-convict appeared to defend his voting rights. When the challenge was pushed, Leon Scroggins, assistant state attorney, cited an Illinois statute which requires such persons to be granted previous citizenship and registration rights by the governor of the state.

However, Gitchoff noted that the man was convicted in Missouri, that the state of Illinois had not removed his rights and that the governor could not restore anything that the state itself had not removed. Miss Holz took the case under advisement.

In the case of another man who had been convicted in Indiana, Gitchoff noted that records are available showing that the governor of Indiana had restored his citizenship rights and Miss Holz said his registration will remain in the books when the record is shown.

Registration officials considered marital separations, reconciliations, matters of choice of residences where individuals lived or owned properties in more than one place, employees of the state and federal government and persons currently in hospitals and nursing homes.

Future Challenge Plans

Chomko, Mangaracino and Ballentine said they had other cases which they wished to challenge but were too late in filing affidavits with the county clerk before the primary elections a week from tomorrow. They said they would do so later.

Gitchoff, who had noted previously that he was representing no individual or group, indicated that the Friday hearings were not final and that other actions may be taken.

Voting Rights Act

He showed a Press-Record reporter a copy of the latest federal voting rights act aimed against conspiracies to prevent a citizen of his right to vote. The act was passed by Congress primarily to outline the rights of southern Negroes to vote.

Miss Holz, who referred to where persons had moved and state voting and registration had not reported their changes laws from time to time, assured of address, they may do so after that state laws were not de-er June 16 and be qualified to signed to remove voting rights vote after that.

Sheriff Gives Staffers Campaign Green Light

Sheriff Farney Fraundorf announced Friday to his staff that each individual will be able to campaign and in any way that they choose in the coming June 14 primary election.

"I wish at this time to free all the personnel—night riders, jail workers and office workers. I want everyone to know that each one can and should make their own commitments in the way of their choosing, and I will have no retributions against anyone."

"At the present time, I myself, have no commitments, and when and if I do, I will make them public."

"But my commitments will not have any bearing on the way that you choose to campaign or vote, the sheriff told his appointees."

Disturbance Charges

Peace disturbance charges were placed against Robert Barhart, 47, and Grace Barnhart, 40, both of the 2000 block of Lee avenue, who were arrested at about 11 p.m. Friday. About 10:45 p.m. Jerry Williams, 19, of Glen Carbon was arrested at 20th and Park on a charge of battery and was freed on $100 bond. A warrant was served on Williams Sunday charging him with possession of false identification and he was released on $50 bail.

He showed a Press-Record reporter a copy of the latest federal voting rights act aimed against conspiracies to prevent a citizen of his right to vote. The act was passed by Congress primarily to outline the rights of southern Negroes to vote.

Fires Damage Trailers, Fence and Lumber

Fire alarms at two trailer courts were answered Saturday by the Nameoki road station firefighters.

At 11:15 a.m. they went to the trailer of Opal Coll, East 23rd street and Nameoki road, where a short circuit in wiring caused $1000 damage to a bedroom—$300 to contents and $700 to the trailer.

The other trailer blaze was in the open at the trailer of Raymond Carder, 4000 Braden avenue at the home of John Jackson, 2825 Iowa street, where a refrigerator in the basement was leaking ammonia gas. The refrigerator was carried outside.

Firemen from the Nameoki road station were called at 7:40 p.m. Saturday to extinguish a rubbish pit fire at 2201 Pontoon road. Residents were complaining of dense smoke.

Another rubbish fire was extinguished about 5 p.m. Saturday at the rear of the home of Robert Stanton, 2940 Washington avenue. The rubbish had touched off a pile of lumber.

Gnojewski-O'Neill Nuptial Ceremony Friday Evening

Miss Carol Jean O'Neill, daughter of Mrs. William J. O'Neill, 4 Goddard drive, East St. Louis, and the late Mr. O'Neill, became the bride of Leonard Michael Gnojewski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gnojewski, 1610 Fifth street, Madison, Friday evening at 7 o'clock at St. Philip's Catholic Church, East St. Louis, with Magr. John T. Fournie officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Dan O'Neill. She was lovely in a floor-length gown of pure silk organza and imported Venise lace, fashioned with a jacket effect bodice designed with a bateau neckline and lace bell sleeves. Venise lace also accented the front of the A-line skirt and edged the detachable chapel train trimmed with tiny bows.

A matching pillbox trimmed with bows secured the three-tiered bouffant veil of pure silk imported bridal illusion. She carried white orchids centered in a colonial arrangement with white variegated calladium leaves in a cascading effect.

Mrs. Edward Shannon, the bride's sister, matron of honor, and Mrs. J. W. Aldrich, the bride's sister, Mrs. Paul Padraza, Mrs. Ony Pashea and Miss Mary Ellen Gnojewski, the groom's sisters, bridesmaids, wore white Venise lace embroidered bodices over powder blue crepe, rounded necklines and short ruffled sleeves. Each dress was detailed in the center front by a tiny fabric bow with short ruffles. The full-length skirts were of controlled styling.

Rainbow colored daisies with ivory foliage were carried by the attendants. Ann Margaret Shannon, the bride's niece, was a miniature bride, with a matching gown and a white basket filled with white daisies.

Richard Gnojewski, the groom's cousin, was best man and groomsmen were Ony Pashea, Richard Bukovich, Andrew Rakiewicz and Tommy Kostecki. Arthur Kackewicz and Mike Sullivan acted as ring bearers.

A reception at the Knights of Columbus Home in East St. Louis followed the ceremony. A wedding trip to the east is being taken by the newlyweds, who will reside in Collinsville upon their return.

The bride is a graduate of St. Teresa's Academy and is a member of the Alumnae Association. She is a clerk-stenographer at the Union Electric Co. in East St. Louis.

The groom, a graduate of Madison high school and Washington University, is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and the Knights of Columbus.

The bride's attendants were dressed alike in blue organza with white lace bodices and short sleeves. Back panels fell from bows to the bottom of the long skirts and matching headpieces and tiny veils were in their hair. They carried bouquets of white carnations tipped in blue. Miss Debbie Reinhardt, a classmate of the bride, was honor attendant.

New Hope Chapter Holds Guest Night

"Guest Night" was observed Friday evening by New Hope Chapter 432, Order of the Eastern Star, with Mrs. Ada Mae Busch, a grand lecturer of the Supreme Chapter of Chicago, as guest of honor. About 100 persons were present.

Guest officers representing chapters from surrounding communities served in various stations, with Mrs. LaVette Hair and Dan Hair, worthy matron and worthy patron, of Walton Chapter, Alton, serving as the ranking officers.

Those escorted in the rituals included Mrs. Elfreda Barr, past grand matron of Illinois, and two grand representatives; two past grand officers; 15 grand chapter committee members; and four worthy patrons.

Arrangements of mirrors, tiny swans, created of net and lace, and tall tapers decorated the refreshments tables for a social hour which followed. Mrs. Sara Dempsey and Jack Dempsey, New Hope Chapter worthy matron and worthy patron, greeted the guests.

In observance of "Father's Day," chapter members will hold a special ceremony June 17, to be combined with the next regular meeting. An initiation of new chapter members also is planned.

Mitchell School Staff Honors 2

Two members of the Mitchell school staff faculty were honored at separate parties Thursday. They were Harold Briggs, principal at the school for the past ten years, and Mrs. Geraldine Hayes, primary teacher there for 11 years.

Mr. Briggs has resigned his post at the school to take the position as assistant to the Madison County superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Hayes, who taught at the Atkins school before the consolidation of the school districts, is retiring.

The party for the school principal was held Thursday evening at the Rose Bowl, given by the faculty of the school. Dinner was served to about 50 persons. In addition to Mr. Briggs and his wife, Elizabeth, the staff members, their husbands and wives, special guests were Mrs. Lee Epperson, mother of the honoree, and Mr. Epperson; his sister, Mrs. Travis Kashi, and County Supt. and Mrs. Wilbur Kashi.

The tables were decorated by Mrs. August Theis as a gift to Mr. Briggs. They held spring flowers and miniature floral arrangements which served as favors. James Swanick, music director, presented Mr. Briggs with a gift from the staff.

Mrs. Hayes was honored at a noon luncheon at the school. The tables held bouquets of roses and a decorated cake marked the place of the honor guest.

A short musical program was given under the direction of Mrs. Beverlee Williams, who presented Mrs. Hayes with a gift certificate from the American Federation of Teachers and read several letters from former students. Russell D. Johnson, superintendent of schools, presented the gift from the staff.

The bride, a 1963 graduate of the Granite City high school, is employed as a secretary in the offices of Lueders and Robertson, attorneys. Mr. Bayer was graduated from Triad high school in Troy and served in the U. S. Navy for four years as an electronic technician. He is presently employed by McDonnell Aircraft Corp.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Kudelka, 2025 Lindell Blvd.

OCAM AUXILIARY TO MEET
A monthly meeting of the Auxiliary of OCAWU-7663A, Union Starch & Refining Co., will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of the president, Mrs. Florence Schall, 1807 Elizabeth and pearls with a nose tip veil. Street, Madison.

Bayer-Shackelford Wedding Saturday at Grace Baptist

Grace Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Darlene Shackelford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Shackelford, 2914 Palmer avenue, and Charles F. Bayer, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bayer of Troy.

The Rev. Clifford Moeller performed the double-ring ceremony at 7 o'clock, and the guests remained for a reception in the church social rooms.

The sanctuary was decorated with bouquets of white gladiolus, yellow mums and greenery in brass urns, and light was furnished by burning candles in candelabra at either side of the altar. White satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Due to the illness of her father, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, James Marsh.

Mrs. William Ellsworth presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Marvin Reel, as she sang "Because" and the Lord's Prayer.

A floor-length gown of peau de soie with a cowl neckline was worn by the bride. A double-lace ruff of lace was revealed at the hem and Chantilly outlined the sash and neckline and the elongated flounce. Long tapered sleeves were trimmed with lace as was the train of tiered peau de soie.

A veil of imported English illusion was held in place with a forward crown of tiny petals of illusion, crystals and pearls forming a half flower with pearl and crystal stems.

The bride's bouquet consisted of Stephanotis and ivy surrounded by white orchids in a corsage. Mrs. James Marsh Jr., a cousin of the bride, was honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Marsh, another cousin of the bride, and Miss Sandra Jackson, the bridegroom's cousin.

Mrs. Marsh was in a gown of mint green nylon sheer over tulle with a controlled skirt and a plain bodice with a scoop neckline. A cummerbund of pleated white and green sheer formed a fold over streamers in the back of the skirt. Her hair was in a crown of braid Florence Schall, 1807 Elizabeth and pearls with a nose tip veil. Upset Champs Last Year

World Champs to Face Mathews Team Friday

Local fast pitch softball fans will be looking for a repeat of last year's dramatic upset victory over the World Champions Aurora Stalmasters when they again play Mathews Chevrolet at 7 p.m. Friday night on the softball diamond in Wilson Park.

In last year's June 3 game, Mathews took a 5-3 contest from the Stalmasters. Mathews was known as the Blue Circle team in 1965.

That the Aurora team might be improved this year is indicated by their 5-0 record in last Fall's Clearwater, Florida, finals.

Joe Lynch pitched all of their five games in the final, striking out 57 and allowing only 2 runs on 13 hits. Lynch, it will be recalled, threw a two-hitter in winning the other half of the June 3 bill last year over the Louis Sansones of St. Louis.

The Sansones team will also be in Friday night's bill. They are known as the L&L Tavern team this year and will face the Seal-masters at 9 p.m.

Admission for the exhibition program is $1 adults, 50 cents for children under 12. Those purchasing tickets being sold by boys baseball league players to help finance their program will be admitted to the game on those tickets.

Fast Pitch Teams Should Register

Men's fast pitch softball teams are being advised to pick up their American Softball Association contracts from Harold Brown if they intend to compete in the 1966 Illinois state tournament.

The Granite City regional, from which one fast team will advance to the state finals in Urbana Aug. 19-28, will be held here in the last part of June and first part of July.

Elks Delegates Here Friday

Eighty Elks club delegates will meet in Granite City this week-end to vote on whether Granite City will become the site of the 1967 Illinois state Elks bowling tournament.

Two other cities are in competition for the event, the Chicago suburban city of Blue Island and Moline. The tourney attracts over 2000 bowlers competing on eight or nine week-ends.

As part of the weekend activities climaxing with the balloting Sunday morning, other sport events are scheduled. There will be a bowling tourney at Bowland Friday at 8 p.m. at which a Delegates Cup will be awarded. A golf tourney will be held Saturday at 6:30 a.m. at Arlington.

A ladies' bus tour of St. Louis will be scheduled for Saturday afternoon to include a baseball game at Busch Memorial Stadium.

The ceremony took place at St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church in Mt. Pulaski, Ill., with the Rev. James Shortal of Edwardsville officiating at 10 o'clock. The double-ring service was used.

White flowers and greenery decorated the church, and a reception was held after the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza with an empire waist re-embroidered with appliques of Alencon lace at the neckline and on the sleeves. The bride's skirt ended in a detachable train. A short illusion veil was held in place with a pillbox crown and the bridal bouquet, a cascade, was made up of white Mrs. Jack Salitch, Mrs. Jack butterfly roses and stephanotis. Miss Carol Dillaver of Mt. Pulaski, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty King, a Leinbach, sister of the bride, Miss Linda McColgan of this city, Mrs. Donald Plecker, Chicago, and a

Miss Marian Dierker, Chestnut, were dressed alike. Their empire gowns of aquamarine were styled with bodices of Venise lace and long chiffon skirts over taffeta with detachable trains. Pillbox and net headpieces matched the gowns and they carried aqua and white daisies.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. King wore a pink linen sheath dress, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a two-piece, ice blue summer lace dress and blue accessories. Her flowers were pink roses.

Mr. Hoffek was attended by his brother, Larry Hoffek, as best man, and Jack Salitch, Jack Trittschuh, Steven Salitch, cousins of the groom, David Foreman of Charleston, Ill., a fraternal brother, and David Salitch, another cousin, groomsmen and ushers.

Miss Judith Harlow Becomes Bride of George B. Redmon

Bouquets of yellow and white daisies, palms and lighted candles in scandelabra provided the setting Saturday evening for the wedding at First Presbyterian Church in Collinsville of Miss Judith Ruth Harlow, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Harlow, 2109 Johnson road, and George B. Redmon, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Redmon, 900 St. Louis road, Collinsville.

The bride wore a sleeveless jonquil yellow crepe gown designed with a high neckline in the front enhanced with a large bow of the fabric. The fluid flow of the side drape flowed over the long slim skirt and a matching yellow pop pon hat and a brief veil complemented the bride's gown.

Caldwell is employed by the Julien Pledriving Co., a subcontractor in construction work at the plant. He was driving pile at the time the mishap occurred. The roller which struck Caldwell weighed from 50 to 75 pounds. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated and admitted. Caldwell was wearing a hard hat when struck, possibly preventing his death, a plant spokesman said.

Negligence was charged as the complaint alleged the Moore auto struck the Filcoff car from behind.

Illinois laws require the display to be handled by a competent individual, designated by the chairman of the county board of supervisors. Applicants are required to list three responsible persons who would be in charge from the fireworks. Harold Lan-

ICC Approving Most But Not All Rail Mergers

(Third of a series)
"Oh, the Rock Island line is a mighty good road . . ."

It would seem to be the way other railroads are competing to absorb it.
But informed sources report that the Rock Island will fold unless its revenue increases or unless it becomes part of a bigger, more profitable organization. From the standpoint of many of its stockholders, merger is regarded as necessary.

Quad-Cityans, for their part, do not particularly want to see a merger. But if it is inevitable, they would prefer that the Rock Island become a part of the North Western rather than the Union Pacific.

Why are railroad mergers so much in the news? Why are they inevitable? Answers to such general questions may help clarify the Rock Island case, but they are the subject of Interstate Commerce Commission hearings in Chicago.

38 Unifications Proposed
The Association of American Railroads calls the merger trend one of the most significant self-improvement projects ever attempted throughout an American industry.

In a nine-year span, 38 unifications have been proposed. Of these, 23 so far have been given ICC approval. Others are being considered, including Union Pacific's proposed acquisition of the Rock Island.

Basic contours of the railroad industry were laid down in the last century. Conditions are far different now.
Rail-Truck Competition
Railroads are faced with not only increased transport costs within their own industry but also intensified external competition from other modes of transportation.

Another subpoenaed document, the shorthand notes at a negotiation meeting taken by R. Ellis Johnson, former Rock Island president, quoted Frank E. Barnett, UP vice-president and general counsel, as saying that "traffic diversion would be fatal to any application before the ICC."

Barnett last month said he no longer considered it "fatal" and added that the actual diversion to the merged system would be less than $100,000. When that is spread among 15 other railroads, it is unimportant.

Rev. Surbey Working For Masters Degree

Rev. Paul R. Surbey, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, began a clinical training program today at St. Louis State Hospital. The 12-week on-the-job training course, which includes lectures, consultations and general studies, is a requirement for Edson Seminary's master of systematic theology degree.

Foregoing his usual summer vacation, Rev. Surbey plans to attend daily sessions from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, during the next three months. Specialized training areas to be covered include most phases of the ministry, preaching, hospital calling, group work, counseling, personal and group therapy, psycho-drama and many other new developments in the related fields of medicine and the ministry.

To assist the pastor with a major portion of the daytime parish work, St. John's church and ministry committees recently approved the appointment of William Eichorn, a senior student at Edson Seminary. Primary responsibilities of the student-minister will involve calling on sick and shut-in church members, assisting with the liturgy, and church school classes and sharing general preaching duties.

Eichorn was graduated in 1963 from Wittenburg University. Except for a foreign language requirement, he has completed his studies at Edson Seminary. He and his wife have three daughters, Elizabeth and Rebecca, five-year-old twins, and Martha, two years. Eichorn is hoping to continue his studies towards a doctorate degree in theology.

Rev. Surbey plans to be at the seminary most evenings and during the weekends, he said.

Railroad observers say UP would have been wiser to aid midwestern railroads by spearheading a "non-aggressive" merger pattern. Such a pattern would have offered UP more midwestern territory without eliminating effective competition.

Wealthy UP, it is contended, could have exploited its position of strength as the proponent of a more equitable plan. If it had done so it would have been "the kingpin in formation of a western merger pattern."

UP: Cheaper, Better

Union Pacific gives no ground in defending its position and contends that it is offering single-line service from the west coast to the Midwest that would result in lower freight charges and better service, an attractive combination.

In the background of the 1966 competition is a losing fight by North Western in 1963 for Rock Island shareholders' proxies. Hailed into court by the UP during this long fight, North Western gave the "hands slapped" for its efforts.

The North Western is taking more direct and open action now in seeking the Rock Island, and its competing petition will be considered along with that of the Union Pacific in this summer's deliberations.

Records Subpoenaed
A key move was made by Johnson, who had a hunch that a subpoena of Union Pacific records might turn up "something interesting." It was this subpoena that disclosed a 1960 traffic study by James R. MacAnally, UP vice-president of traffic, showing a maximum potential diversion of freight from UP eastern connections of $229,000, 000 annually.

This is interpreted as meaning that if the UP gets access to the Chicago and St. Louis gateways through control of the Rock Island, the carriers now exchanging freight with the UP at such points as Omaha and Kansas City could theoretically lose that much in yearly freight revenues.

CONVENIENT DEPOSIT BOX for donations to the Salvation Army was placed in position Friday at the rear of Army headquarters, 1905 Grand avenue. Used clothing, newspapers and other items may be deposited in the container at any hour. Lt. Rofald Gorton, local SA commander, who demonstrates the hinged trap door, hopes the installation will eliminate donated items being scattered when left at the building.

Harold Willmore Dies At Ironton Hospital

Harold J. Willmore of Ironton, Mo., a former Granite City resident, died at 5:30 a.m. Saturday at an Ironton hospital, where he had been a patient since suffering a cerebral hemorrhage two weeks ago. A son, Richard (Dick) Willmore, lives at 2600 East 27th street.

Mr. Willmore, who had lived in the East Granite area prior to moving to Ironton about 16 years ago, was in his late fifties. After leaving here, he had owned and operated Arcadia Lodge, a fishing resort on Lake Kilarney, Mo., frequented by many Quad-Cityans. He had retired from business several years ago.

Also surviving are his wife, Mrs. Velma Willmore; two other sons, James Willmore, Madison, Wis., and Robert Willmore, Baltimore, Md.; five grandchildren; and several brothers and sisters living in the Decatur area. A daughter, Miss Nina Willmore, preceded him in death.

Mr. Willmore was born in Decatur, where funeral services were held today.

Vandals Damage 2 Autos

Two auto owners reported Friday that their cars had been damaged by vandals. Charles Dwyer, 3000 Sinclair avenue, said his 1954 auto was in the driveway at his home when a rear window and a sideview mirror were smashed; and Roland Blind, 2513 Center street, said his 1957 auto was in front of his home when a window was broken.

Ruling in Postal Case Expected in 2 Months

A ruling as to whether Eugene C. Noud, veteran Madison mail carrier, shall be dismissed from his 23-year job with the Madison post office is expected within the next two months, according to Acting Postmaster W. F. Clinton at Madison.

The ruling will be based on testimony presented in a four-hour appeal hearing conducted at the Madison post office last week of charges that Noud was guilty of conduct unbecoming a postal employee. The charges were filed by Clinton after Noud charged publicly that the appointment of a Madison assistant postmaster was political.

The hearing was conducted by a hearing officer of the postal department's regional office in Chicago. If Noud loses his appeal he may take the case to the Post Office Department at Washington.

Postal Officials Hear Stolen Check Story, Free Man

Postal authorities were investigating Friday the source of a check in the amount of $345 which was found in possession of a 22-year-old Eagle Park man who was questioned for three hours and then released by postal inspectors.

The man was arrested by Venice police at 3:45 p.m. Thursday at the Hairston Service station, Main and Bremen streets, in Venice, after Hairston called officers and reported an attempt to cash the check at his station. Venice authorities called Post- al Inspector A. S. Corser who questioned the man at length. He said the man told him he obtained the check from a boy who owed him money, but was unable to give the boy's last name, his address and said he didn't know where he worked.

The check was made out to Callison Liquor Co. of East St. Louis by the Jug tavern in Belleville. The tavern proprietor told Venice officers the check was one of about a half dozen that were sent out to various liquor supply firms and did not reach their destination.

Corser authorized release of the man who, he said, was called back for further questioning. The check was turned over to Corser.

Levee Sewage Bills To Be Mailed Friday

First billing of sewage treatment rental fees to Madison and Venice residents will be made by the East Side Levee and Sanitary district late this week, according to Ben F. Day, administrator.

Day said about 500 bills for the Madison-Venice area will go into the mail probably on Friday.

Day said the three-month bills are based on rental fees starting with a minimum of $1.15 per month and varying in accordance with the volume of water used. The first billing schedule this week will be for December, January and February, Day said. In about six weeks a second billing will be made for March, April and May to bring payments up to date. No estimate was available today of the amount of money billed for the first period. The sewage treatment plant will not be completed until late next spring.

duties Saturday, Trimpe said. "I disagree with Howlett's claim that the two jobs (assistant county school superintendent and grade school principal) are incompatible," Trimpe said. "State's Atty. Joseph Barylak is in the hospital," he continued, "and every lawyer I've talked to—and I've conferred with three—tell me I'm right."

"There's nothing incompatible here. As the elected county superintendent of schools in Madison county, I have a right to set policy for my office," Trimpe added, "explaining that Briggs was hired for the $11,250-a-year county job to aid him with supervision and to prepare state reports."

Trimpe said he cleared Briggs' hiring through the office of State School Supt. Ray Page in a conversation about mid-April and was given verbal approval. In a letter to Page's office at the same time, Trimpe announced the appointment of Briggs, mentioning he was "former Mitchell school principal."

"It was an unintentional error in the use of the word 'former,'" Trimpe said. A candidate for renomination in the Democratic primary just eight days away, the double public paycheck for Briggs has resulted in political overtones. Howlett contends an individual cannot be on two public payrolls at the same time.

Two State

drocarbons, nitrogen oxides, odors and, indirectly, oxidants. These pollutants originate from combustion of fuels used in operation of motor vehicles and are of heaviest concentration in business and urban districts where vehicular traffic is most extensive.

"The local air pollution control agencies can and should aid in the development of a rapid transit system by evaluating the air pollution aspects," the program recommends, adding that "large amounts of hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxides are emitted daily from the operation of motor vehicles in the area.

Exhaust Percentages
As noted in earlier reports, motor vehicles emit an estimated 63% of hydrocarbons, 38% of carbon monoxide and 33% of nitrogen oxides of the total amounts of these pollutants emitted from all types of sources in the study area. Availability of a rapid transit system, the study sets out, "will reduce the flow of traffic, especially into the downtown area (of St. Louis) during the 'rush hours' and consequently reduce the emissions of pollutants from motor vehicles."

In detailing the types of air pollutants and their sources, the report explains that blanket legislation for the area as a whole would not provide proper controls, and that the answer lies in legislation providing controls for certain types of pollutants in the specific areas in which these pollutants are found in greater volume.

Urban Areas Unique
It points out that "most urban areas are unique in the type and configuration of pollution sources in the area, the extent by which the air quality goals are exceeded, and in the meteorology and topography of the area."

"It is, therefore, unrealistic to expect that a common air use plan may be used in all areas or that the control regulations used elsewhere may be applied indiscriminately to the area under consideration," the report points out.

"The control regulations enacted in pollutant emissions needed in the particular area."

In reference to the design of a control plan, the report states that "the design of an air use plan at the present stage of design-system development is complicated by the multitude and the diversity of pollutant sources present in the urban areas, the incompleteness of data concerning emission rates and release heights, and the uncertainty of knowledge concerning the diffusion characteristics of the atmosphere."

The outline for a control system as recommended in the program points out that "the study participants recognize a need for an interstate agreement between the state of Illinois and Missouri to provide for the control of air pollution originating in one state and affecting the other."

Represent All Agencies
"It is suggested that such an agreement establish an interstate control organization which would initiate its own enforcement action only after it had provided opportunity through leadership and coordinating activities for the appropriate state and local agencies to manage the air resources and resolve the pollution problems."

The interstate organization should consist of representatives of state and local control agencies and other appropriate groups from each state and should have authority to adopt standards and regulations. "It is suggested that the agreement organization be supported by equal appropriations from each state."

The state compact, the program explains, would provide authority for settlement of all control issues along the boundary of the two states.

Agreement between the states constitutes one of three major levels of coordinated organization to administer a clean air program. The other two would include an agreement based on continuation of activities of the project, executive committee which served as sponsor of the interstate study with a committee attached to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Committee.

The third stage pertains to a local level of administration involving St. Louis county which now is covered by the St. Louis County Health Department; the city of St. Louis; and Madison and St. Clair counties in Illinois.

54 Separate Areas
Madison and St. Clair counties, the program report continues, contain 54 separate incorporated areas plus county jurisdictions, all overlying the jurisdiction of the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board. The report claims that the St. Louis and St. Louis county agencies, in terms of organization to meet the problem, "out of balance with the two major areas in Missouri."

Because of the large number of incorporated areas in Madison and St. Clair counties, the report recommends the establishment of a regional office of the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board to administer air pollution control legislation in the bi-county area of Madison and St. Clair.

The report proposes further that "the board (Illinois Air Pollution Control Board) meet to consider the problems of the area . . . that the board be guided by an advisory committee representing county and municipal governments of that area."

Specific activities of the proposed regional office would include general responsibility for air quality and regulatory action and control of major air pollutant sources including negotiation of control plans with major sources.

In addition it would have technical supervision of personnel hired by local government agencies and would be responsible for monitoring of air quality levels, emission inventories, establishment of air quality goals and standards and would be required to establish all rules and regulations, including emission regulations.

The report recommends that the eastern parts of both Madison and St. Clair counties "should probably be excluded from such a district operation" because of their physical separation from the main air pollution basin. The line of separation, says the report, is the bluff line bordering the American Bottoms.

Must Be Agreement

Concerning the local level of pollution control administration, the program states that as a general policy "there should be few air pollution control agencies at a local level . . . in its consideration the board should seek and be guided by comments of any interstate agency which might be created for the purpose of coordinating the efforts of all control groups."

Granite City has its own air pollution control board and a control ordinance. The board currently is gathering data on control measures which can be taken by local industries and businesses and is to meet this week with state clean air commissioners to determine if the city should be exempted from state controls.

Further, the study asserts, "It is recommended that the activities of all control agencies throughout the area be coordinated through a central organization comprised of representatives of each agency. Such an interstate coordinating organization should have as its primary objective the provision of an orderly and scientifically correct approach to the control of air pollution . . . and as its secondary objective the development of needed aspects of metropolitan area government."

Such an organization or committee, says the report, "might well be the successor to the Executive Committee of the Interstate Study."

Study Cost $750,000

The 231-page program study, which cost more than $750,000 to complete, is for the most part technical in nature. It specifies goals of achievement as to pollutant intensity and sets standards maximum within which the volume of pollution should be reduced. Most of these standards, along with existing pollutant measurements, were outlined in previous sectional reports.

In reviewing the various types of pollutants, their sources and intensity, the report sets up various methods to alleviate the air pollution problem, including the recommendations for elimination of hand-fired burning, which virtually would eliminate the use of coal, particularly southern Illinois mined soft coal, as a fuel.

Initiation of a control program, however, is not expected to have easy sailing. Members of the executive committee of the interstate study have been divided in opinion as to the stringency of controls on industry which will cost vast sums of money. Some committee members contend this may force industry to seek a haven in the unregulated areas of the study basin and prevent new industries from coming into the area controlled by anti-pollution legislation.

8 St. Louis Youths Nabbed at Beer Party

Eight St. Louis area teenagers were arrested about 11:45 p.m. Saturday after the Madison county sheriff's office received a report of a beer party and an attempted drowning at the Chain of Rocks canal levee where it meets the Mississippi river.

The group declined knowledge of a drowning attempt, saying they had congregated for a party following a graduation at Riverview high school.

Charged with disorderly conduct were Douglas E. Van, 17, Eugene Bonnard, 17, Kenneth Reese, 17, John McBride, 17, Phillip Weiser, 17, Michael Duffy, 18, and Edward Horak, 19, all of St. Louis, and Michael Hohn, 17, of Ferguson, Mo. They were released on condition that they do not return to Madison county.

When two deputies arrived at the scene, the youths fled into the woods. While there, three other autos containing teenagers appeared, but they were released and ordered to leave.

The deputies summoned assistance and sealed off the area. Using a loudspeaker, the officers ordered the youths out of the woods. The group complied after a time. The deputies said they found beer and soda used for mixing highballs and a police night stick in a car. The teenagers said the beer was purchased by another youth in St. Louis.

Review Board Procedures Outlined

(Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois)

One of the duties of the board of review is to correct technical mistakes in assessments of property.

Such mistakes are errors other than errors of judgment as to value. For example, if the improvements on real estate have been assessed even though they were destroyed prior to assessment date, or if there is a mistake in the computation of the assessment or in recording the assessment, the taxpayer may apply to the board of review for a certificate of error.

The certificate is issued to the taxpayer erroneously assessed and may be used to correct technical errors on either real or personal property assessments; it must be issued prior to the time of judgment or order of sale and may be used as evidence in court. Errors of judgment as to the value of property are not corrected through the certificate of error.

The assessor who certified the original assessment should endorse the certificate. The form should be prepared and issued in quadruplicate, the original going to the taxpayer, one copy to the assessing official, another to the county collector, and the fourth copy retained by the board of review for its files.

The following perfunctory errors, which are subject to correction by the certificate of error method: double assessment; property not taxable on assessment date (Jan. 1 for realty and April 1 for personalty); property assessed in wrong jurisdiction; errors based upon wrong measurements or inclusion or exclusion of attributes; and assessment to wrong person.

Many boards of review use good judgment and also develop rules relative to assessments pertaining to hardship cases, accidents without estates and removals to other states.

New boards of review formally organized about June 20 (Madison County) and July 1 (Madison County) established at the outset of their "fiscal" years will be helpful to the taxpayer, to the local government, and to the board itself.

Bigger Probe of Vote Lists Needed

To the Editor:

I have watched newspaper articles with intense interest and was amazed when articles appeared in Alton listing names of Missouri residents registered to vote in my precinct.

Upon examining many of the addresses of persons listed in the article, I found some to be addresses of local business establishments, many of which I had done business with for years.

I was totally unaware these people had voted for years in Madison elections. Upon learning that they had, I embarked upon an investigation of my own of other registered voters who were friendly with the "machine" and about whom I had doubt as to their voting status and registration address.

Others assisted me in this laborious detail and I was dumfounded to learn of the many illegal and false registrations. Many of these voters are my personal friends whom I have known for years.

Undoubtedly I will lose their vote by challenging the legality of them voting from the addresses shown on the registration sheet. However, I have never been clean, win or lose, I intend to stay clean.

I can readily understand how the machine can control and win any election in the city of Madison and have great power in our county government by ignoring banded registered voters and voting numerous questionable registrants.

Many of these questionable registrants live in Missouri, or have moved out of the precincts where they are registered, or have moved out of the city or state, or have been deceased for years, or are former inmates of penitentiaries and may or may not have had their voting rights and citizenship restored (if they have they must have an affidavit to prove it).

My investigation was conducted solely to eliminate improper registrants from voting on city school and city tax levies, which greatly affect the good people of Madison for years to come; they have no concern for the increasing tax burden or conditions under which we must live as bona fide residents and property owners.

Being the owner of various properties in Madison, I am greatly concerned. My efforts were not to discredit anyone Madison or interfere in any way with any bonafide, properly registered voter's right to vote.

Upon learning of the great number involved in Precincts Six, Eight and Nine in Madison and One and Two in Venice, I am upon reading various news articles, I immediately approached Miss Eulalia Holt, county clerk, whose office is in charge of voter registration in the county.

I presented Miss Holt with a letter requesting an investigation of voters in the precinct lists. I also informed Miss Holt that duplicate letters would be handed to the Venetian Joseph Barylak and Harold R. Clark, chief judge of the circuit court, requesting an immediate investigation.

I was accompanied by Sam Chomko, independent Democratic candidate for precinct Six, Venice Precinct Eight. Miss Holt pleaded with us to not present these letters, saying that this was her duty and she would investigate our findings immediately and give us a full report within five days. This was in the presence of a newspaper reporter.

When we reported back with additional lists, we were informed that she had consulted Barylak and he had advised her that we would have to sign affidavits challenging the voters about whom we had doubts.

At this time Miss Holt informed us we would not have to sign affidavits on deceased persons, former prison inmates or persons who had moved in or out of the precinct. She informed us she would check these out personally with her files and in the question.

However, when Mr. Chomko, myself and John Mangiaracino, independent candidate for precinct One, returned, we were informed we would have to sign affidavits, including those of deceased persons. Her wishes were complied with.

Due to the failure of Miss Holt to fulfill her promises, and due to her seeking advice from the state's attorney, whom we asked us not to contact, she had to take many hours from our families and employment to do her investigating.

We are not investigators, and checking irregularities is her job, not ours. Since we are professional investigators, it is possible we may have made a

Helpful Levee District Action

The East Side Levee and Sanitary District took considerable action in conveying a mile-long section of the old Granite City levee east of the Chain of Rocks Canal to the Tri-City Regional Port District.

Unused levee canal can be put to good use in linking the port area with utility services and other facilities. This will help encourage development of shipping, storage and industrial activity, benefiting the public and both governmental agencies.

Madison County One Of Few In Area Which Is Growing In Population

That Madison county is experiencing steady population growth is now taken for granted. If it were not for the fact that Americans will graduate gradually into several huge megalopolises, this county will continue to add new residents.

But many areas are not as fortunate. Only seven counties in the southern half of the state showed gains between 1960 and 1965, and southern Illinois as a whole experienced a population loss. The state itself may retain its present complement of Congressmen in 1970 but is expected to lose one with the 1980 census.

California and Florida—plus Madison county—meanwhile continue to enjoy extensive population growth.

Contrasting Attitude On Two City-Owned Bridges

Madison officials currently are making plans for reduction of the city's Chain of Rocks Bridge toll income. They are not moving as fast as the Missouri Highway Commission would prefer, but they are facing the issue.

Meanwhile, the Missouri Highway Commission remains strangely silent regarding another bridge from which a substantial part of the revenue is diverted to operating a city government. The Kansas City Bridge, owned by St. Louis, not only plans to maintain existing tolls but has under study a proposal to increase its truck and train tolls.

Frghardt Synonymous With Education In Granite City For Many Years

The late Louis P. Frghardt was associated with Granite City schools from 1894 to 1931, heading the grade school program continuously during that pioneering period and directing high school instruction prior to 1920.

Not only did he serve as an educational founder, but his descendants have been a part of the school administration and faculty ever since, until the retirement of his son, Ralph, as Coledge junior high school principal this spring.

A long era of dedicated service has now come to a close, but will live on in the name of Frghardt grade school, regarded as perhaps the largest elementary school in Illinois.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

By THOMAS A. O'HARA, Chairman, Board of Trustees, National Association of Investment Clubs

SAVINGS BOND LIFE, INTEREST INCREASED. I have some U. S. savings bonds that I purchased in 1965. I understand I must pay income tax on this interest although I haven't intended to cash the bonds. However, since they have matured, they do not go on drawing interest. Would it be advisable to cash them and invest the money in some venture where I would receive interest?

A. You'll find, if you check, that your savings bonds did not mature last December, inasmuch as the government has extended the term and the interest on them. In fact, as of Dec. 1, 1965, the rate on U. S. savings bonds was raised to 4 1/2 percent.

You do have to pay income tax on the interest when you cash them. But your interest continues, and there is no requirement that you cash them now. Q. What is the "most speculative" type of stock of 1967? Forbes 1965. I understand I must pay income tax on this interest although I haven't intended to cash the bonds. However, since they have matured, they do not go on drawing interest. Would it be advisable to cash them and invest the money in some venture where I would receive interest?

A. I suggest you write directly to Forbes for his opinion on the most speculative stock. I might add that very few people make money by buying speculative stocks and most lose it. Long term investing is the surest road to financial success.

Charting Procedure Bids Sought on Site Class Planned

A course to teach charting procedure to nurse aides will be offered starting next Monday under the auspices of the Adult Education Department of Granite City.

Robert Waltsch, chief of division, will be in charge. The course will be available to all students who are passing the entrance examination. The course is to provide a program of instruction concurrently with on-the-job training to qualify nurse aides to record on the patient's chart appropriate data concerning the patient. Previously the nurse aide had to report this information to the nurse who wrote it on the chart. This subsequently permit the nurse to spend a greater proportion of her time in actual patient care.
